Class Three Newsletter

03/02/2017

This Week

The children have worked tremendously hard on assessments throughout this week. I only alluded to them on last week's newsletter as I didn't want any of the children to worry about them over the weekend. However, I shouldn't have worried at all as the children's attitude was one of determination and resilience as ever. Monday was Reading Comprehension, Tuesday was Maths, Wednesday was SPAG and Friday was Writing.

Thankfully, the week wasn't all assessments for the children and as a reward for their tremendous concentration and hard work; the class were given the opportunity to prepare their very own lessons on a topic of their choice. The children will deliver their lessons next week and I'm looking forward to seeing them engage and inspire each other. It is also a fantastic opportunity for them to display the breadth and depth of understanding that they have acquired during their learning journey.

Alongside the teaching of their own lessons next week, the children will look over some of the topics from their assessments to see if they can get even better at using and applying their skills in maths and reading comprehension. The children will also carry out a science investigation to identify the type of rocks that we can discover around the school grounds.

Talk Time

In preparation for Tuesday's Safer Internet Day, please talk to your child about online safety. Discuss the importance of not sharing personal information online, and the importance of telling someone if they ever feel upset or worried about something that has been said to them online.
