

Year 1
Mrs Lucarelli's
Weekly Newsletter.
13th January 2017

This Week....

This week in Maths we have been looking at place value. The children have been splitting 2 digit numbers into 10's and ones. We have also been writing numbers to 20 in numerals and words.

In English we have been starting to look at information texts. To link with our topic 'Explorers'. The children have been set the challenge of making a class book to help other members of the school to explore the outdoors. The children have had lots of different ideas which we intend to try out before writing them up. As I type this I am hoping the weather today will allow us to go out and finally make dens for our toys!

A BIG Well Done....

Next Week...

We will be starting to use standard units of measure in Maths as we take the 'Carrot Challenge'. We will also be using the tip balance scales as we look at mass.

In English we will be continuing our information booklet and, weather permitting, exploring outside as we try out our ideas. Please can the children have wellies or shoes in school that can get muddy.

Homework Help The children requested that I include an online programme to help them with their maths homework:
