Summer Sun!

Now that the weather is improving and we can enjoy some sunshine at last, please make sure that your child always has their water bottle in school. Sun cream should be applied at home, if necessary, but caps/hats and sunglasses can be brought into school. Please also bring a waterproof coat each day.

This week

We had a really exciting adventure day at Borwick Hall last Thursday and we were so blessed with the dry weather. I was so proud of the children and the resilience, enthusiasm and team spirit they showed. I truly believe that the children learn so much from this trip and grow in confidence as they participate in activities which they may never have tried before. This year, the children did a combination of the low ropes, orienteering, archery, rock climbing, caving and bushcraft in the beautiful surroundings of the hall. Well done everyone!

In class, we have been using a story, 'Marcy and the Riddle of the Sphinx' to base our work around. The children have been identifying unfamiliar language and researching the definitions in a dictionary. They have also been using a thesaurus to choose the best words for their writing. The book fits in beautifully with our new History topic on the Ancient Egyptians... the children love History and are already expert historians when it comes to Egyptian afterlife! It is lovely to see homework projects starting to arrive too. We have some brilliant pyramids made out of a variety of materials. We are enjoying having PNE coaches in school teaching us athletics on a Monday. We have been focusing on accuracy of throw and speed movements. We have started doing forces in our Science and all got the chance to experiment with Newton meters to test the size of a force.
