Ethan for applying himself much better this week.
Maisie for working collaboratively and for putting up her hand during class discussion

Writer of the Week-

Eliza for showing growth mindset with her Writing at all times
Leon for working harder on his presentation and content in his written work

Christian Value –

Daisy for giving joy by trying her best in all her work EVERY day!
Gracie-Mae for being enthused and joyful about her learning

This Week

This half term, we have been learning all about Greek myths. The children learned about the Trojan Horse last week and have added to their knowledge by listening and completing work about Pandora's Box and Daedalus and Icarus this week. The children have shown real interest in our work on Ancient Greece so far – we have been historians this week and used designs on Greek vases to interpret what we feel life was like for the Greeks three thousand years ago. Did you know that Ancient Greeks used to do competitive sports naked?! The children loved this fact! We have been tackling decimals in our Maths and used our new found understanding to apply decimals to work on money. We are trying really hard with our Maths but don't forget to keep encouraging times tables practice as often as possible. We have also enjoyed starting our new RE topic about Women in the Old Testament and learned all about some very inspirational women who have changed the world for the better.

Attendance and Punctuality are key to your child flourishing at school and achieving their full potential.
We now have two 'slogans' in school, designed to help your child remember the importance of attendance and punctuality:

Be on time, it helps you shine.

and

Come to school, it's really cool!
