

Class 3 Newsletter – 9.11.18

This Week...

This has been a very special week in school as we have commemorated one hundred years since the end of World War One. The children have totally immersed themselves in this work, creating their beautiful poppies at home, making poppies in school to create a display in our Reflection Area, writing their moments in history for our whole school display and witnessing Year 6 delivering an amazing worship for this event. In class, the children have written the most fabulous letters in the persona of a soldier in the trench. For such young children to write on such a difficult subject has been lovely to see and they have produced fabulous results. We have decided to put them on a display to complement the history display in the corridor. Please take some time to read them during Parents' Evening next Thursday. The children have also been practising their recital of our Remembrance poem ready for our class service today. In our Maths we have been looking at the 4x tables and the relationship with the 2x tables. We have also been looking at sequences and working out the pattern and rule. In Science, we learnt the new vocabulary of reversible and irreversible. We used eggs and chocolate to investigate this and practised our scientific drawing. Mrs Morris has started looking at algorithms in Computing. In addition to our Remembrance worship in class this week, the children have found similarities and differences between the Bible and the Qur'an

Class Information

The children are starting their topic on Ancient Egypt next week.

We are going to have a topic based homework which aims to allow the children to enhance their understanding of this subject through a creative approach. Please complete one task per week and bring into school. It can be recorded in homework books if appropriate. Spellings and times tables to practise will also be sent home - we are alternating with a times tables test one week and a spelling test the following week.

Please keep up with regular reading.

Thank you for your support with this.

Next Week -

We will begin a new unit in English this week - writing information texts on Ancient Egypt. The children will use features of this genre to create fact sheets which will tie in nicely with our History work. Mrs Morris will complement this with her Art teaching, looking at Egyptian artefacts and sketching them before using charcoal to complete. In Maths we will be looking at written and mental multiplication and working hard on our rapid recall of facts. In RE, we will begin our new unit on the Gospels of Matthew and Luke in the lead up to Christmas.
