This Week...

We have been completing assessments. The children have worked really well at showing how much they have learnt this term and I am really pleased with their progress.

In English the children shared their homework facts with each other, teaching each other about different polar animals.

In Maths we have started to use base 10 to help us represent different amounts.

Next Week....

We will be continuing to look at non-fiction text and will continue to research polar animals for our own texts.

In Maths we will be continuing to look at place value for numbers to 40.

Talk Homework

*"Hey diddle diddle, the cat and the fiddle,
the cow jumped over the moon.
The little dog laughed, to see such fun
and the dish ran away with the spoon."*

What questions would you ask the Cow about this?
