

'Chocolate Cake' by Michael Rosen

I love chocolate cake.
And when I was a boy
I loved it even more.

Sometimes we used to have it for tea and Mum used to say,
'If there's any left over you can have it to take to school tomorrow to have at playtime.'
And the next day I would take it to school wrapped up in tin foil open it up at playtime and sit in the corner of the playground eating it, you know how the icing on top is all shiny and it cracks as you bite into it, and there's that other kind of icing in the middle and it sticks to your hands and you can lick your fingers and lick your lips
oh it's lovely.
yeah.

Anyway,
once we had this chocolate cake for tea and later I went to bed but while I was in bed
I found myself waking up licking my lips
and smiling.
I woke up proper.
'The chocolate cake.'
It was the first thing
I thought of.

I could almost see it
so I thought,
what if I go downstairs and have a little nibble, yeah?

It was all dark
everyone was in bed
so it must have been really late but I got out of bed, crept out of the door

there's always a creaky floorboard, isn't there?

Past Mum and Dad's room, careful not to tread on bits of broken toys or bits of Lego you know what it's like treading on Lego with your bare feet,

yowwww shhhhhhh

downstairs
into the kitchen
open the cupboard
and there it is all shining.

So I take it out of the cupboard put it on the table and I see that there's a few crumbs lying about on the plate, so I lick my finger and run my finger all over the crumbs scooping them up and put them into my mouth.

oooooooooooooooooooo

nice.

Then
I look again
and on one side where it's been cut, it's all crumbly.

So I take a knife
I think I'll just tidy that up a bit, cut off the crumbly bits scoop them all up and into the mouth

oooooooooooo mmmm

nice.

Look at the cake again.

That looks a bit funny now, one side doesn't match the other I'll just even it up a bit, eh?

Take the knife
and slice.

This time the knife makes a little cracky noise as it goes through that hard icing on top.

A whole slice this time,
into the mouth.

Oh the icing on top
and the icing in the middle ohhhhhh oooo mmmmmm.

But now

I can't stop myself

Knife -

I just take any old slice at it and I've got this great big chunk and I'm cramming it in what a greedy pig
but it's so nice,

and there's another
and another and I'm squealing and I'm smacking my lips and I'm stuffing myself with it and before I know
I've eaten the lot.

The whole lot.

I look at the plate.
It's all gone.

Oh no
they're bound to notice, aren't they,
a whole chocolate cake doesn't just disappear does it?

What shall I do?

I know. I'll wash the plate up, and the knife

and put them away and maybe no one will notice, eh?

So I do that and creep creep creep
back to bed
into bed
doze off licking my lips
with a lovely feeling in my belly.
Mmmmrnmmmmm.

In the morning I get up,
downstairs,
have breakfast,
Mum's saying,
'Have you got your dinner money?'
and I say,
'Yes.'
'And don't forget to take some chocolate cake with you.'
I stopped breathing.

'What's the matter,' she says,
'you normally jump at chocolate cake?'

I'm still not breathing, and she's looking at me very closely now.

She's looking at me just below my mouth.

'What's that?' she says.

'What's what?' I say.

'What's that there?'

'Where?'

'There,' she says, pointing at my chin.

'I don't know,' I say.

'It looks like chocolate,' she says.

'It's not chocolate is it?'

No answer.

'Is it?'

'I don't know.'

She goes to the cupboard looks in, up, top, middle, bottom, turns back to me.

'It's gone.

It's gone.

You haven't eaten it, have you?'

'I don't know.'

'You don't know. You don't know if you've eaten a whole chocolate cake or not?

When? When did you eat it?'

So I told her,

and she said
well what could she say?

'That's the last time I give you any cake to take to school.

Now go. Get out

no wait

not before you've washed your dirty sticky face.'

I went upstairs

looked in the mirror

and there it was,

just below my mouth,

a chocolate smudge.

The give-away.

Maybe she'll forget about it by next week.
