This Week...

In English we have been writing our Beast stories, inspired by the author Chris Judge. I have been really impressed with the imaginative approach the children have taken. They have created fantastic stories that include description, un- words and innovated characters and problems. We are developing a talented group of authors in their own right!

In Maths we have been completing assessments. The format of the 'test' has proved challenging as the children are fairly new to the concept of working independently and not sharing answers!

Although it has been time consuming the children have worked very well with encouraging results.
