Our Christian value this week is Joy.

Hello Parents and Carers,
Well, the half-term is certainly whizzing by and unfortunately this is my final week teaching your delightful children. I have thoroughly enjoyed my time at Lea Endowed and will look forward to hopefully seeing everyone again sometime in the future.

Learning This Week
This week in Literacy, the children have been recapping their grammar skills, practising their spellings and have had lots of fun creating some Kennings poetry.

In our Maths work this week we have been looking at using both long and short division written methods. We have developed our use of the methods before applying these to more complex problem solving.

In RE the children have been researching the lives of famous Christians such as Usain Bolt, Marcus Rashford and Bear Grylls. They have looked at their beliefs and how Christianity affects their lives.

Learning Next Week
Next week the children will be delighted to see the return of Miss Morris as their class teacher. The children will be completing writing activities and a range of Maths problems so Miss Morris is able to assess where they are at. They will also be finishing off their Science, Geography and RE units through some cross-curricular work.
