Picture News at Home

17th June 2019

What's going on this week?

Last week, the US President Donald Trump visited the UK for an official state visit. He spent time with the Prime Minister, Theresa May and the Queen and other members of the Royal family. Theresa May has said it was a chance for the US and UK "to strengthen our already close relationship". But others don't think that he should be given such a formal and important welcome. Some UK politicians, including Labour leader Jeremy Corbyn, didn't attend the special banquet in honour of President Trump. Protests also took place in London, with anti-Trump campaigners planning marching through the streets.

Things to talk about at home…

- Is it important to be friendly to everyone, even those we don't get along with? Why?
- Do you think that everyone should have made the President of the USA feel welcome even if they don't agree with some of the things he says or does or do you think people should be allowed to voice their opinions if they don't agree?

Please note any interesting thoughts or comments here…