

Class 5 Newsletter

Autumn Term – 12/10/18

This Week...

Maths

This week we have been learning about division and how to “chunk” numbers! This has been quite challenging and we will be revisiting this skill after Christmas! We have also enjoyed a practical Maths morning where we embedded our times table knowledge through a variety of fun activities.

English

In English we have been thinking about the pros and cons of zoos. The children have read about this topic, formed their own opinion and taken part in a whole class debate. We have recorded our views on this by writing a letter to Teresa May! We will send a few of these off to The Houses of Parliament and will hopefully get a reply!

Across the Curriculum

This week we have created some ‘Harvest Art’ for church that shows our thanks to God for everything He gives us. In Science we have been investigating variations and adaptations of birds’ beaks using different tools to represent the beaks and various foods. Our Geography lesson was all about the continent of Antarctica; the children have researched its location and what it is like there.

Next Week...

Maths

We will be recapping and revisiting areas of Maths we have covered so far this year.

English

We will be writing about ‘What being a Christian means to us’ and recapping spelling and grammar from this half term.
